Rights March Orderly

Try to Turn Drama Into More Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The historic civil rights march on Washington — massive and orderly and moving — has dramatized the wants of Negroes in America, but leaders still faced the task today of trying to turn drama into action.

Speaker after speaker told the 200,000 Negro and white sympathizers massed in front of the Lincoln Memorial Wednesday that their demonstration was no more than a beginning.

"Those who hope that the Negro needed to blow off steam and will now be content," said the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., "will have a rude awakening if the nation returns to business as usual."

Demonstrators and their leaders made it clear that one sign of progress, in their view, would be congressional approval of President Kennedy's civil rights bill. But there was no evidence that the demonstration would move the Congress into any faster consideration of the bill.

Kennedy, like the civil rights leaders, also talked in terms of a beginning. He met with King and the other civil rights leaders after the demonstration and said, "We have a long way yet to travel."

But the President also said "the cause of 20 million Negroes has been advanced by the program so appropriately before the nation's shrine to the Great Emancipator."

Kennedy, in his statement, spoke of the demonstration's "quiet dignity," and this was the element of the day that probably most impressed the city of Washington.

Police had three minor arrests — none of a demonstrator. Red Cross workers reported what they expected for a crowd so large: a share of headaches, faintings, broken bones and insect bites. Demonstrators, tired and quiet, headed home in their special buses and trains.

Man Held On Federal Charge Here

A hunch by Police Sgt. Perry A. Franklin and a records check has brought about the arrest of a 36-year-old man wanted in particular on a federal warrant for possession of counterfeit money.

The man, Paul V. Lacinak, who gave police Decatur, Ga., as his address, has used a long list of aliases and is also a fugitive from several other warrants, reportedly including embezzlement and motor car theft.

Police first came in contact with the man about 2:10 a.m. Wednesday when Officers Herbert Mayfield and Joe Bass in a patrol car came upon an altercation on a city parking lot at Third and Lamine.

Lacinak was found badly beaten, was taken to Bothwell Hospital for emergency treatment and has remained there since. At that time the man gave his name to police as Paul Lowder, stated he was 36 years of age and gave the Decatur, Ga., address. Two men believed to be his assailants were held overnight by police, but were released when the beaten man refused to prosecute.

Sgt. Franklin said in interrogating the man at the hospital he became suspicious because the man obviously wanted nothing to do with any law enforcement officers. Franklin had police make a routine check through the Kansas City Police Department and federal authorities in the city. The check turned up the warrants for a man answering his description.

Thursday morning an agent for the U. S. Secret Service came to Sedalia and questioned Lacinak at Bothwell Hospital. The agent

Car Recovered Near Knob Noster Park

A 1963 Chevrolet stolen in Sedalia early Thursday morning was recovered a short time later just west of Knob Noster after two young men leaped from the car and fled into the Knob Noster State Park.

Willa Jean Wingfield, 308 West Broadway, reported to Sedalia police that the car was missing at 1:10 a.m.

Knob Noster police later radioed Sedalia police and reported the stolen car had been found in a ditch at a bridge just west of Knob Noster. The Knob Noster officers saw two young men flee from the car and enter the State Park. They were apprehended and held for Pettis County Sheriff Emmett Fairfax.

Sheriff Fairfax went to Knob Noster Thursday morning to investigate the car theft.

More Delay In Committee On 'Rights'

March Fails To Prompt Action On Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress' ponderous machinery failed to respond with any prompt pickup today to the orderly but emotion-packed appeals of 200,000 citizens petitioning for equality of jobs and freedom of the bill.

Wednesday's civil rights march on Washington was marked, instead, by a new 10-day delay in House committee consideration of President Kennedy's legislation aimed at fulfilling some of the demonstrators' demands.

Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said the impact on Congress of the mammoth rally at Lincoln's shrine would be helpful. But he explained so many members were taking off on a Labor Day holiday the committee would have to postpone work on the bill until Sept. 9.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Senate Democratic leader, was certain the march, which he said had been participated in by "people with good manners, good humor and deep conviction," would have an impact later on Congress.

The American people will speak to their representatives in Congress about what they saw and heard," he said.

But Mike Mansfield of Montana, Senate Democratic leader, made it clear to march leaders who called upon him he has no intention of bringing up any bill until the House has acted.

Mansfield guessed it would be October before Senate debate could begin. He could not promise, as the marchers demanded in a list of objectives they want accomplished, that the bill would not encounter a filibuster.

To Rule On Rails Issues

Name Two Members In Swift Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Railroad management named today its two members of the arbitration board that will rule on the main issues of the long work rules dispute, moving swiftly under the new law that headed off a nationwide strike only hours ahead of a midnight deadline.

They are J.E. Wolfe of Chicago, chairman of the National Railway Labor Conference and chief negotiator for the carriers, and Guy W. Knight of Philadelphia, chairman of the Eastern Carriers' Conference on labor matters.

The operating unions — the organizations of on-train workers involved in the disagreement over the carriers' plans to cut deep into what they call job featherbedding — said they will pick their two men by Friday.

Then the four are to name three others representing the public. If they cannot agree on selections the task falls on President Kennedy. Under the legislation passed Wednesday and quickly signed by Kennedy, the board must be completed in 10 days.

The new measure kept the trains rolling today but there were still caution lights ahead.

Whiteman AFB Moving Into Missile Field

WHITEMAN AIR FORCE BASE, Mo. (AP) — The Strategic Air Command base will move into the missile field of operations Sunday as the headquarters for units which will handle the Minuteman missile complex in west central Missouri.

The top unit will be the 17th Strategic Missile Division. Four squadrons already have been activated to comprise the new 351st Strategic Missile Wing.

These organizations, along with support units, will operate the 150 Minuteman missiles in a 14-county area covering 9,500 square miles from Bonneville to Nevada.

The 340th Bomb Wing which has been here since 1952, will be transferred along with several other units to Bregstrom Air Force Base near Austin, Tex. Two bomb squadrons, the 487th and 488th, and the 16th Munitions Maintenance Squadron will be discontinued.

The newspaper offices will be closed Monday

Public Schools Open Part-Time Friday

All Sedalia Public Schools will begin with a partial schedule Friday morning. Horace Mann and Mark Twain Schools will start at 8:30 a.m. that day; Heber U. Hunt and Smith-Cotton Schools will open class rooms at 8:45 a.m. and all other Sedalia schools will begin activities at 9 a.m. The first day of school will serve for distributing schedules and pupils will be dismissed before noon.

Regular classes will begin Tuesday, Sept. 3, the day after Labor Day.

Find Debris After Crash Of Two Jets

Search Centers Between Miami And Bermuda

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Debris was picked up today in a massive search for 11 men aboard two jet stratospheric aircraft missing over the Atlantic on a refueling mission.

The search was concentrated in two areas between Miami and Bermuda. One area is about 560 miles northeast of Miami, the other 780 miles northeast.

A Coast Guard spokesman at Miami said the merchant vessel S.S. Azalea City was retrieving debris, including red life jackets.

An HC-54 master aircraft — a 4-engine plane — discovered an oil slick and debris at the other site early today. As it circled the area, additional air and sea searchers, including paramedics, were directed to assist.

Radio contact was lost about noon Wednesday as the huge tankers returned toward Homestead. At that time, they were 800 miles northeast of Miami, or about 300 miles west of Bermuda.

A spokesman of the Air Rescue Service said, "The debris looks like pieces of an airplane but that is all we know at this time."

No Democrat Monday, No Capital Tuesday

The Sedalia Democrat will not be published Monday, and there will be no Sedalia Capital Tuesday morning, as Monday, Labor Day, is the only day in the year that the newspaper does not publish.

Display ads for the Sunday Democrat-Capital will be accepted up to Friday noon. Display ads for the Tuesday Democrat will be accepted up to noon Saturday.

Classified ads will be accepted up to noon Saturday for the Democrat-Capital Sunday. Classified ads for the Tuesday Democrat will be accepted up to 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Delay Mine Rescue Attempt To Improve Escape Chance

MINES DISASTER SCENE—This is a recent aerial view of the Texas Gulf Sulphur Co. potash mine 16 miles southwest of Moab in southeastern Utah where an estimated 25 miners were trapped by an explosion late Aug. 27 some 2,700 feet below ground. The men were trapped in one of two tunnels extending from the bottom of the 2,712-foot shaft toward the potash deposits. The $30 million facility was scheduled to begin limited production in 30 days.

Fulbright Asks Action On Treaty

Would Forward Pact Without Reservations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman J. W. Fulbright calls on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today to approve the limited nuclear test ban treaty and send it to the Senate for ratification action without reservations.

However, another proponent of the ban on all but underground blasts, Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., told a reporter at a meeting Wednesday a question was raised whether the committee should wait until the Senate Preparedness subcommittee makes its own report.

"Maybe the discussion wasn't as spirited as those at Democratic conventions," Aiken said, "But it was quite spirited for the Foreign Relations Committee." There were some suggestions that the committee call additional witnesses, he said.

The preparedness subcommittee has been conducting an independent investigation and its chairman, Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., is reported to be considering a report of its own.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk appeared before the Foreign Relations Committee for two hours Wednesday. He apparently satisfied the group, Fulbright said, that there is no need for attaching a formal reservation to the resolution of ratification.

The vote came after the committee beat down two motions to delay action, and another to demand access to all correspondence between Washington and Moscow leading up to and during the negotiation of the pact.

Chairman J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said the committee agreed to take the treaty up on the floor of the Senate Monday, Sept. 9.

A formal report will be submitted to the Senate Tuesday or Wednesday, embracing U.S. "understandings" and "interpretations" of its meaning, Fulbright said.

This would be designed to eliminate any need for any formal reservation which might require a renegotiation of the pact banning tests in the atmosphere, underwater and in outer space, but not underground.

Attorneys for Curtis had not indicated earlier what legal route they would pursue after a Federal Court jury awarded Butts the verdict because of a Saturday Evening Post article which charged him with fixing a football game.

One of the motions will ask a new trial and the other will seek a judgment from Morgan for Curtis.

The $3.06 million judgment for Butts was the second largest ever awarded in a libel action.

Butts, former athletic director at Georgia, was charged by the Post with feeding information on his team to Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant of Alabama last fall. The Post said Butts and Bryant rigged the 1962 game which Alabama won 35-0.

Butts had sued for $10 million, asking $5 million general damages and $5 million punitive damages. The jury set general damages at $60,000 and punitive damages at $3 million, a record for that type of judgment.

Eight Bodies Of Missing Men Found

Two Are Rescued, Say Others Alive After Mine Blast

MOAB, Utah (AP) — Attempts to reach five reported survivors of a potash mine explosion were temporarily suspended today to establish a fresh air pocket at the base of a 2,700 foot mine shaft.

State Mine Commissioner Casper Nelson said work on the air base may take 24 hours, and during that time rescuers would not go into the tunnels.

Nelson's announcement followed the finding of eight bodies Wednesday night, dimming the hope of tired, grimy rescue workers, who had pushed their search since the explosion Tuesday afternoon. One body was brought up today.

The blast trapped 25 men in Texas Gulf Sulphur Co.'s $35 million potash mine. Two were rescued Wednesday in good condition.

They said five of their companions were alive after the blast, barricaded behind debris about 2,100 feet into one of two tunnels extending laterally and downward from the main shaft.

Fate of the 10 remaining miners was unknown.

Nelson blamed carbon monoxide for the miners' deaths.

"We are not abandoning hope," Nelson said.

"We have been unsuccessful in attempts to reach the five men believed to be alive behind a barricade... We plan to go back to our original plan of establishing a fresh air base at the bottom of the shaft from which we can work... We should have followed this procedure 24 hours ago," he added.

No Voice Heard

Hope of Finding Miner Flickers

HAZELTON, Pa. (AP) — Hope of finding Louis Bova alive soon flickered for a moment today, then died out, as rescuers probed with renewed determination for the miner's fate through four separate shafts.

The crews were electrified for an instant when Daniel Bova, a brother of the 54-year-old Louis, said he thought he heard a voice calling out weakly, "Hello, hello," over a sensitive microphone lowered into one hole.

Bova was entombed Aug. 13 more than 300 feet down in the nearby Shepperton coal mine with David Fellin, 58, and Henry Throne, 28. Fellin and Throne were recuperating in Hazleton State Hospital after their dramatic rescue early Tuesday.

A tape recording of the sound Daniel Bova heard was played back, with volume increased. It turned out to be only sand sifted down an underground slope.

Enlargement of the 12-inch escape shaft was started this morning, and those supervising the operation said it might take two days to complete. This hole was bored into the chamber Wednesday, chewing into the area where Bova may have been trapped. He has been without food all this time, and with only brackish water to drink.

In the making, too, are three other holes, one six and a half inches in diameter, the other two three inches across.

H. Beecher Charmbury, state mines secretary, said it is planned to ream the 12-inch hole to 30 inches for the first 38 feet, then insert steel casing to that depth. After that the rest of the hole will be enlarged to a width of 22 inches.

Charmbury said a man may be sent down the 22 stretch of the shaft.

Officials would not say who the man might be but among the volunteers are David Fellin, 58, recuperating in Hazleton State Hospital since his rescue Tuesday from the cave-in, and a brother of Bova.

Wayne Wilson, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Wilson, 1614 Honeysuckle, and some other neighborhood boys were able to lure the otter into the garage of a vacant residence at 1506 Honeysuckle. The enticement was some fish.

Sedalia police were notified and they summoned Pettis County Conservation Commission agent Chester Vermaas. First attempts to net the otter proved unsuccessful and the net was wrecked.

A garbage can was tried and the otter was lured inside with some more fish, but once inside it required several men to hold the lid down and the garbage can was badly damaged by the enraged animal.

Don Goodman, a member of the commission's staff at the fairgrounds, said the otter is back in confinement and in good condition. The commission workers also replaced the damaged garbage can with a new one, Goodman said.

The otter had been expected to head for a free-flowing stream, possibly Flat Creek, but the city apparently confused him. Goodman said a weasel-like animal, probably the otter, was reported earlier Wednesday near 32nd and Limit.

Goodman set a trap near there, but was unsuccessful.

Child Stars Move On To New Fields

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What happens to child stars in television series after their options have been dropped?

Are they washed up at 10, 13 or 17? A survey shows they seem to do all right, although few regain the fame they knew in their series.

Jay North, Dennis the Menace, hasn't acted since the series ended in April. He finished some personal appearance dates then took a Hawaiian holiday this summer.

Lee Aker, once the pal of "Rin Tin Tin," is 19 and an assistant location manager for the "Route 66" company.

Eleanor Donahue, eldest daughter in "Father Knows Best" had a season in "The Andy Griffith Show," then dropped out to have a baby. Eleanor, wife of screen gems official Harry Ackerman, does guest shots in several series.

Johnny Crawford, Chuck Connor's son in "Rifleman," has been appearing in a western film, "Indian Paint."

Lori Martin, the second "National Velvet" girl (Elizabeth Taylor was the first), has been going to school since the series folded. "There isn't much work for a girl my age," laments Lori, now 16.

Tony Dow, the older brother of "Leave It to Beaver," has done a "Mr. Novak" and "My Three Sons" and is up for a continuing role in another series.

Jerry Mathers, Beaver himself, has virtually retired at 15.

Sheelye Fabares outgrew the "Donna Reed Show"; the explanation is that she's "away at college."

Richard Keith, who played young Ricky in the "I Love Lucy" series, is 12 and has had occasional television roles.

Here is news to make you feel your age. Remember Tommy Rettig, first pal of "Lassie"? Now a free-lancer, he's 21 and father of two.

News Team Gets In On A Surrender

EDITOR'S NOTE—The following story of the surrender of alleged killer Thomas (Rabbi Tom) Trantino, 27, wanted in connection with the slaying of two New Jersey policemen, is told by Associated Press reporter Anthony Alborelli and photographer Ray Howard, who met with the man and his woman attorney in a Manhattan tavern preceding a walk to a police station just around the corner.

NEW YORK (AP) — "I got a call from the office that this man Trantino was going to give himself up with his lawyer, Miss Enid Gerling," said Associated Press reporter Anthony Alborelli.

"I was told to go to the Village Bar on First Avenue between 21st and 22nd streets," Alborelli continued. "I hurried down, parked my car in front of the station house (on East 22nd St.) I met our motorcycle messenger (George McNiven) and the photographer (Ray Howard) outside."

"The three of us walked in the bar last night. There were five people in it. I saw the attorney (Miss Gerling). She called us over and asked us if we wanted a drink.

Howard said:

"He (Trantino) was drinking a double, a martini, I think. The attorney told him to have another and brace up and get his wits about him. He took another drink.

"Tony (Alborelli) introduced me to the young lady lawyer and she introduced us to Trantino. While Tony was writing, getting some notes, I was talking with him (Trantino).

"I took my camera off my neck and sort of hid it so the other customers wouldn't know what's going on."

Alborelli said:

"She (Miss Gerling) said this man wanted to give himself up. His family asked him to give himself up but he was afraid of this Falco, but after he was shot down he decided to give himself up."

Frank Falco, 25, wanted in connection with the murders of two policemen in a Lodi, N.J., tavern last Monday, was slain early Wednesday by police during a battle in Falco's Manhattan hotel room.

The bartender knew nothing; it's a neighborhood bar. She (Miss Gerling) told me she wanted a photographer there to take pictures. She said (of Trantino) 'He's a wonderful guy.'

"They finished their drink and we went outside and Howard popped shots."

Said Howard:

"I got my range on the camera and waited until they started walking. I made two or three shots. I gave my pictures to McNiven and he rushed them in."

Alborelli said:

"The four of us walked around to the East 22nd Street station house and we walked in. We got before desk officer Lt. Frank Brill.

The attorney said 'You're looking for this man.'

Dear Ann Landers: A friend of mine gave a get-acquainted luncheon last week for a newcomer in town. This newcomer apparently has fooled a great many people. She was described to me as a high-grade person with an impressive family background—wealth, social position and like that. You can imagine my surprise when I met her and she turned out to be Mazie Klutz (manufactured name, but you get the idea) from Philly High.

Mazie did not remember me, naturally, since it was 20 years ago—and Philly High was a big school and I was a freshman when Mazie was a senior. I happen to know that her father was a butcher who did time for rubber checks and that her sister ran off with a siding salesman.

I hate phonies and nothing would give me greater pleasure than to blow the whistle on this one. My husband says to keep my mouth shut. What do you say?—IN THE KNOW.

Dear In: And who is she posing as? Queen Fredricka? Your letter indicates that the big build-up came from your friend—not Mazie—so keep quiet. If Mazie has been able to rise above her environment, I say hooray for her.

OBITUARIES

Celesta Stephens
(Sedalia)

Mrs. Celesta Bell Stephens, 84, died at 7:55 p.m., Wednesday at the Campbell Nursing Home.

She was born in Mountain Grove, Mo., Feb. 12, 1879, daughter of the late Allen and Nannie Bell Sechrist. She was married to Lewis Stephens in 1898 at Mountain Grove. He preceded her in death, April 17, 1948.

Mrs. Stephens was a school teacher and had taught for 35 years in the Henrietta and Norman, Okla., schools. She came to Sedalia in April, 1962, and made her home with her daughter, Mrs. H. D. Brown, B-1 Minuteman.

Surviving are her daughter; two grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by two brothers.

She was a member of the Eastern Star in Henrietta, Okla.

The body was taken to the Gillespie Funeral Home and will be taken to the Strode Funeral Home, Stillwater, Okla. Funeral services and burial will be in Stillwater.

Rogers Infant
(Sedalia)

Stephen Douglas Rogers, two-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Rogers, 710 East 18th, died at Bothwell Hospital at 9 p.m. Wednesday. He was born at the hospital Monday.

An infant brother, Johnny Lyle Rogers, died May 14, 1959, and a sister, Jo Karen Rogers, died Jan. 17, 1960 at the age of two years.

The baby is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Rogers; one sister, Melody Lynn Rogers, 3, of the home; his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Anderson, 2114 East Ninth; and his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Rogers, Stover, Mo.

Funeral services will be at the Ewing Funeral Home at 1 p.m. Friday. The Rev. Walter P. Arnold will officiate.

Burial will be in Crown Hill Cemetery.

R. S. Love
(Maplewood, Mo.)

R. S. (Bob) Love, 76, a former Sedalian, died Wednesday at his home in Maplewood, Mo.

He was born at Mineola, Mo. In 1914 he was married to Ida Lee Sims, who survives. He resided in Sedalia a number of years ago and was employed as a street car operator for the City Light and Traction Company. He was a member of East Broadway Christian Church here.

Surviving besides the wife is one brother, L. E. Love, Kirkwood, Mo.

The body will arrive in Sedalia at 4 a.m. Saturday by train and will be taken to the Gillespie Funeral Home.

Graveside services and burial will be at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at Crown Hill Cemetery with the Rev. Cleo Gray, pastor of East Broadway Christian Church, officiating.

Pallbearers will be Ed Neighbors, S. W. Welch, Paul Meyers, C. G. Satterwhite, W. A. McVey and J. F. Taylor.

Mrs. Frank Maloney
(Syracuse)

Mrs. Florida V. Maloney, 90, wife of Frank Maloney, died at 3 a.m. Thursday at the home, two miles southwest of Syracuse, after an extended illness.

She was born at Hardin, April 13, 1873, the daughter of Thomas and Winifred Hickam. April 13, 1893, she was married to Mr. Maloney.

Surviving are the husband, of the home; two daughters, Mrs. Henry (Velma) Bird and Mrs. Walter (Minerva) Klein, both of Syracuse; two sons, Lee Maloney, St. Helena, Calif.; Lloyd Maloney, Syracuse; seven grandchildren; several great grandchildren; and one sister, Mrs. E. L. Devina, Long Beach, Calif. She was preceded in death by one son, Harry, her parents and two sisters.

Mrs. Maloney was a member of Syracuse Baptist Church.

The body is at Richards Funeral Home, Tipton. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Mrs. Faye Smith
(Ericson, Neb.)

Mrs. Faye Smith, 73, mother of Councilman Edgar B. Smith, 507 State Fair Blvd., died at her home in Ericson, Neb., about 5:30 o'clock Wednesday evening. Mrs. Smith had been in poor health for more than a year.

Surviving are her husband, B.C. Smith; a son, E. B. Smith, Sedalia; and a brother, Ed Kester, Omaha, Neb.

Funeral services will be at 11 a.m. Saturday at the Urbauer Funeral Home in Burwell, Neb.

C. W. Green
(Kuna, Idaho)

C. W. (Will) Green, 77, Kuna, Idaho, formerly of Sedalia, died Wednesday at Mercy Hospital, Nampa, Idaho.

He was born Sept. 23, 1885 in Pettis County, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Omer Green. Jan. 18, 1908, he was married to Miss Nellie Stevens, Sedalia. She died in 1931. They were parents of two daughters and two sons, who survive.

Also surviving are his second wife, the former Miss Mabel Swalm, Nampa, Idaho, a stepson and step-daughter, and a brother, Parkie B. Green, Route 1, Sedalia. Two sisters also preceded him in death.

Funeral services will be in Nampa, Idaho Saturday.

Funeral Services

Larry W. Forsyth

Miss Ruth Hamlin and Mrs. Ethel Sims sang "Take My Hand, Precious Lord" and "Sweet Hour of Prayer," accompanied by Jack Chambers at the organ.

Burial was in Memorial Park Cemetery.

Labor Day Ends
Swim Season

Summertime is just about over — at least swimming season literally closes with the coming of Labor Day. The Liberty Park and Hubbard Park public swimming pools cease operation for 1963 Monday evening.

Also closing will be the Sedalia Country Club pool, a private swimming pool for members only.

The three swimming pools have enjoyed large crowds during the summer, persons seeking relief from the extremely hot days. There will be many more days after the pools are closed good for swimming, but swimmers will have to resort to the old days and look for a good swimming hole, go to Flat Creek, or down to the Lake of the Ozarks where swimming doesn't hardly stop until the snow flies.

Remember if you want to make another visit to the swimming pools it'll have to be done on or before Labor Day.

Grainger Speaks At Lions Meet

The Sedalia Lions Club, Wednesday noon, heard a most interesting talk, "How to be Successful on Purpose — Not by Accident," as given by F. Reed Grainger, State Director, Federal Crops Insurance Corporation, USDA.

The speaker in opening his talk said, "How many people desire to be considered as being average? The average man or woman can best be explained by a very easy diagram of one straight line in the center of a page of paper, drawn vertically. At the extreme top of that line insert the word 'best'. At the extreme lower end of the line insert the word 'lousiest'.

In the central part of the line draw an arrow, to each side of this arrow insert the words 'Average Man'.

"What do you have?" Grainger asked and continued by saying, "You will find that in an average man or an average woman you have nothing more than the lousiest of the best or the best of the lousiest. The pathetic thing is that the average man has to improve only a very small amount in order to be an above-average citizen of his community, salesman, professional man, business man or farmer."

"The truth is that average men and women succeeded by accident instead of on purpose," Grainger said.

Members of the Lions group were requested to ask themselves, "Am I keeping pace with the new modern developments in sales, management and business?" Do I realize the full latitude untouched in the sales, management, and business fields?" It was stressed that they should be concerned with one particular question, and that was, "Have I tried anything recently that was new?"

"Training, planning, supervising, managing, directing, or operating as a lone individual requires an inventory of resources, organizing material resources, sales planning, managing the sales force (or oneself), developing the most from the manpower that is available," the speaker said.

Grainger stressed the fact that many conferences failed for one of three reasons even though there may be only three persons present, or more. Reason number one, somebody makes a statement he can't back up with figures or proof; two, somebody is accused of delay, failure to cooperate, or attempts to pass the buck; three, some person in attendance gets off the subject.

"These three pitfalls all point up to the fact that any individual holding a conference of any type should make specific proposals, but pass them out as ideas that the group should consider. Be sure that the reasons are given for the proposals that are to be considered," he said.

There isn't any doubt but what Grainger's bringing out the fact that there are four major emotional appeals was the highlight of the meeting.

"The major appeals," he said, "are self-preservation, money, romance, and recognition. We, as human beings, emotionally seek out the satisfactions more than the contents. This is why there are thousands of branches of emotional appeals that can be uncovered to fit services, products, clients, and customers. In the final analysis, none of these thousands of emotional appeals are original and each and all of them are limbs stemming out from the four original emotional appeals.

"An example of an emotional appeal which has to do with money was given by the speaker.

It seems that out-of-town motorists were speeding through an Iowa town in such numbers that the local police could not completely control the situation. An investigation showed that the only police warning to motorists was a sign stating "Speed Limit 20 MPH". One of the town citizens was motivated into attempting to become creative, which he did, and came up with a suggestion for a new sign. The new sign stated "20 MPH or $19.90". The speeders got the idea immediately. Why? Simply because of the emotional appeal of money."

Grainger's talk was completed with this unusual statement: "Success is hard by the yard, but a cinch by the inch." By a diagram he explained to the Lions group a pyramid of success in a business or profession. First, there comes motivation which builds attitude. The proper attitude is a firm foundation for the beginning of any business or profession, the same as for a house. With the proper attitudes the attitudes will be found by the motivated person. To be successful the motivated person who has built a firm foundation by creating the proper attitude must keep in mind the various symbols of success. They cone product information into one part of their mind, with it firmly sealed and no one having the key to it except themselves. They keep in mind that basic motives need desire and want. They are sure to always keep one part of the mind open for creative thinking. Another part of the mind is constantly open to accept new methods and techniques after the facts have filtered and proven to be worthy.

The Sedalia Fire Department received an alarm at 1:43 p.m. Wednesday to a vacant lot in the 800 block of West 11th, where it was learned the Street and Alley Department was burning trash and old lumber. There was no damage.

Firemen made a run about 1:55 p.m.

● Accidents

Two cars were damaged in a collision at 6:54 a.m. Thursday at Broadway and Ingram.

Involved, according to police, were a 1958 Ford, driven east on Broadway by Charles R. Anderson, 33, Harrisonville, Mo., and a 1956 Plymouth driven north on Ingram by Joyce Ann Quint Rucker, 22, 608 East 17th.

The front end of the Anderson car and the left front side of the Rucker car were reported damaged.

Four cars were involved in a series of accidents on slick pavement at Broadway and Quincy about 7:25 p.m. Wednesday.

Initially involved in the accident were a 1954 Buick driven west on Broadway by George A. Markham, 53, Concordia, and a 1963 Ford, also westbound driven by Joseph D. Helms, Sr., 1809 West Fourth. The Buick had stopped in the center lane for a left turn just before the accident. The rear of the Buick was slightly damaged as was the front of the Ford.

Then a 1962 Chevrolet driven by Clyde E. Grady, Marshall, came upon the two vehicles and reportedly was unable to stop on the slick pavement. He collided with the rear of the Ford.

Grady had just pulled to the right of the other two cars when a 1955 Chevrolet driven by Benjamin B. Simpson, 82, 710 State Fair, came upon the accident and collided with the rear of the Ford. Slick pavement was again listed as a contributing cause.

No arrests were made.

● Fires In City

No one was seriously injured in a two car accident in the 600 block of East Broadway about 7:25 p.m. Wednesday.

Involved, according to police, were a 1961 Ford, driven by Diedra K. Jones, 30, Racine, Wis., and a 1957 Dodge, driven by Alan Abelheuser, 18, 214½ West Third.

Both cars were eastbound on Broadway when the accident occurred. The rear of the Ford and front of the Dodge were damaged.

He is scheduled to be taken before Prosecuting Attorney J. R. Fritz for possible filing of a state theft charge.

Cincinnati Raps Dodgers: Frisco Takes Cards 5-3

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was close but no haircut for Red Patterson, the Los Angeles Dodgers exec who just might wind up wearing ribbons 'round his ringlets before the National League leaders score four runs in one inning.

Patterson, the Dodgers' assistant general manager who has vowed not to get a haircut until his team has a four-run inning, watched Cincinnati push across four runs in the sixth inning and trim Los Angeles' 9-5 Wednesday night.

Jim Maloney posted his 19th victory as the Dodgers went down to their fifth defeat in seven games. The loss cut the Dodgers lead to 5½ games over second-place San Francisco.

The Giants, who move into Los Angeles tonight for the opener of a four-game series, downed third-place St. Louis 5-3 as Tom Haller hit two homers and Chuck Hiller and Orlando Cepeda one each. The Cardinals remained 6½ games behind.

The fourth-place Philadelphia Phillies closed to within seven games of the top by edging the Chicago Cubs 8-7 for their 12th victory in 15 games. Gene Oliver hit a grand slam and two-run homer in Milwaukee's 9-1 walloping of Houston and Pittsburgh downed the New York Mets 7-2.

The Dodgers, who have managed to score only 15 runs in their last seven games, collected eight hits against Maloney 19-6, and reliever Joey Jay, but again failed to get Patterson in the barber's chair. It's been nine days since they scored four runs in one inning.

Red's decisive four-run sixth revolved around Don Pavletich, who had hit a Homer off Johnny Podres, 11-10, in the fourth. With two on, Pavletich ripped a hard shot to third on which Tommy Davis started a doubleplay. However, Umpire Frank Walsh ruled the ball was fielded in foul territory.

Pavletich went back to the plate and laid down a bunt. Davis fielded it, hesitated, then threw high to Jim Gilliam covering first base, and two runs scored. Singles by Johnny Edwards and Pete Rose brought in the other two runs. Moose Skowron accounted for two Dodgers runs with a ninth inning Homer off Jay, who took over in the eighth when Maloney was forced to leave with a pulled back muscle.

Hiller got the Giants' Homer barrage started with a two-run shot in the first inning before Haller connected in the second. Cepeda and Haller hit consecutive homers in the fourth off Bob Gibson, 14-8. Billy O'Dell, 12-6, posted his first victory since July 30 with a six-hitter.

The Phillies lashed 15 hits, including homers by Wes Covington, Clay Dalrymple and John Callahan.

Interview Might Go This Way

NEW YORK (AP) — Pro football enthusiasm is moving into baseball's long season, and grabbing off its sports page space, too.

It would seem, therefore, that the time has come to subject the football officials to those same old questions that are annually thrown at the men who run baseball.

The questions will be the same, but the answers might be entirely different.

Let's set up an imaginary interview between a reporter for the Football Bible and Pete Rozelle, the commissioner of the National Football League, just to see how things might come out:

Interviewer: Commissioner, do you expect close pennant races this season?

Rozelle: I'd sure like to have a runaway race just one time. These tight races are bad on my heart.

Q: What about the old tradition that the team in front on Veterans Day will win the flag?

A: Gee, I never thought of that. You might have something there. I'll have to look it up.

Q: Any predictions?

A: I suppose when it's all over I'll wind up sitting in that ice box in Green Bay again for the playoff game. It took me a month to get over the cold I caught there in 1961.

Q: Commissioner, do you think the football season runs too long?

A: Well, we had $3,000 in August at Cleveland for an exhibition doubleheader. That's about twice what the baseball All-Star game drew in the same park. And we sold the TV rights to the play-off in December for about a million bucks. Somebody must think it's not too long.

Q: Are you planning any franchise shifts?

A: Philadelphia was our last-place club last year and their season ticket sale is only up 4,000 this year. It might not go much over 47,000. You naturally start to think when a situation like that develops.

Q: Do you plan to enlarge the end zone to make a bigger target for the passers?

A: We're more interested in enlarging the stands.

Q: How about reports that the ball is livelier?

A: That's true. We used to buy all our footballs from a little old lady in New Jersey who grew her own pigs. But you couldn't pass or kick the darn things. So we changed the shape, size, weight and material. Otherwise it is the same ball used by Pudge Heffelfinger.

Q: Do you anticipate any gambling scandals?

A: I'll make book that there will be no more betting in our league.

At least the interview MIGHT go like that.

Yankees Defeat Boston 4-1; Detroit Edges Los Angeles

By JIM HACKLEMAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

They're calling Charlie Dressen the Quiet Man — but his Detroit Tigers are making the loudest noise in baseball.

Hardly a word has been heard from Dressen, one of the game's angry old men, since he succeeded Bob Scheffing as manager of the slumped Tigers on June 18. The normally outspoken veteran with a penchant for controversy has been the epitome of decorum. The Tigers have been roaring.

They won their seventh straight Wednesday for their best streak of the year, nipping the Los Angeles Angels 2-1. In the past two weeks, Detroit has taken 12 of 14 in a climb from ninth place to fifth in the American League. Under Dressen the Tigers are 39-30, compared to their 24-36 mark under Scheffing.

Whitey Ford became the AL's first 19-game winner as he fronted running New York Yankees scored three times on wild pitches by Earl Wilson and downed Boston 4-1.

Also in the AL — the Chicago White Sox broke a tie with idle Minnesota for 2nd place, sweeping a doubleheader from Cleveland, 8-3 and 3-1 behind Juan Pizarro and Eddie Fisher; and homers by Jackie Brandt and Jerry Adair in support of Milt Pappas' three-hit pitching led Baltimore over Kansas City 3-1. Washington had the day off, along with the Twins.

Frank Lary added another victory in his pitching comeback with the Tigers, with a seven-hitter against the Angels. He had a shaky start, gave up a fifth-inning homer to Jim Fregosi, then allowed just one hit the rest of the way. Lary is 4-6.

Detroit counted both its runs off Dean Chance in the fourth, with an error by first baseman Lee Thomas opening the way. Norm Cash followed the bobble with a run-scoring double and Bubba Phillips chased in the second run with the first of his three singles.

Ford, 19-7, limited the Red Sox to five hits, including Dick Stuart's 34th homer. Wilson also was stingy with the hits—five in his five innings — but generous with his wild pitches.

He uncorked one in the first inning, allowing Phil Linz to come in from third for the first Yankee run. Then in the fourth, on Wilson's second wild pitch of the inning, Clete Boyer scored from third and Linz flew all the way in from second—making it 4-1.

Pizarro fired a six-hitter, striking out 10, and Fisher gave up just three in an eight-inning stint in the doubleheader sweep at Cleveland for the White Sox, now 12 games behind the Yankees. Pizarro is 16-8, Fisher 7-8.

Tom McCraw and Nellie Fox led Chicago's offense with four runs batted in apiece. McCraw collected five hits, including a homer, and Fox had four, also with a homer. Pedro Ramos and Dick Donovan were the Indians' losers.

Opportunity's Doors Are Open

Goalby is back to defend his title.

The par was broken Wednesday by five other pros among the 50 who teamed with 150 amateurs for the pro-am competition. George Bayer, Jacky Cupit, Jay Hebert, Doug Sanders and Ken Still turned in 69. Each collected $330.

The absence of the Big Four attracted a Denver Open record entry list of 147 pros. The field will be trimmed after Friday's second round to the low 65 pros plus ties and 10 amateurs for the last two rounds Saturday and Sunday.

A Bantam and a Midget team from LaMonte will also come to Sedalia to play the local teams. Among the 25 men who have indicated an interest in coaching or managing a soccer team are several who have excellent backgrounds in the sport. One man played soccer while in high school, college, and played with two leagues while serving with the Air Force in Europe. Several others have solid backgrounds, including one man who is a veteran high school soccer coach.

The Sedalia league is under the auspices of the Khouri Soccer Association, a division of the George Khouri Association of Baseball Leagues, Inc., of St. Louis.

The Optimist Club sponsors the league here, with other business and civic organizations sponsoring individual teams and providing uniforms and other equipment.

The first league games are scheduled Sept. 22. Games are slated through the first part of December.

430-520 Estimated To Die on Weekend

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Safety Council has estimated that between 430 and 520 Americans may die in traffic accidents over the long Labor Day weekend.

The council also said Wednesday that 17,000 to 21,000 persons may suffer injuries disabling them beyond the day of the accident.

The council said at least 60 lives would be saved if every motor traveler wore a seat belt. It said the death toll could be held down if motorists don't mix drinking and driving, don't drive too fast for conditions, and don't drive left of center.

The three day holiday will begin at 6 p.m. Friday (local time) and end at midnight Monday. Last year's Labor Day weekend set a record for that holiday with 501 fatalities.

The only way you can stick our Dodge W200 four-wheel-drive is by getting all four wheels off the ground. It'll go where other trucks won't even try. When it's on the job, suppliers never hesitate to send in heavy loads of brick and block. They know the Dodge can always pull the big ones out. It's a great truck, a 1960 model that's gone 44,000 miles with no trouble at all. It pulls a 21-foot trailer loaded with scaffolding and other equipment and gives us 10 to 11 miles to a gallon! Kenneth W. Church, Masonry Contractor, Omaha, Nebraska.

There are five four-wheel-drive Power Wagon models. They range in size from a GVW of 6,000 lbs. to a GVW of 20,000 lbs. And they're priced lower than most of the competition, right in line with the rest. Talk to your dependable Dodge truck dealer about Job-Rating a Dodge Power Wagon to your kind of work. And ask about his liberal new finance plan.

Speedy Scot Takes Trot Title Race

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—Speedy Scot won the Hambletonian as expected, but it was unsung Floris who made the premier race for 3-year-old trotters a historic one.

The $115,549 Hambletonian was decided in three heats Wednesday, Floris, winner of only one trot in eight starts this season, stunned the 23,000 fans in the stands by taking the first mile by a head over Speedy Scot in 1:57 3-5.

It was the fastest mile by a 3-year-old trotters a historic one, whether in a race or against the stopwatch.

Into the dust of the Du Quoin clay mile oval went the Hambletonian record of 1:58 2-5 by Harlan Dean in 1961 and the world competitive mark for 3-year-old trotters of 1:58 1-5 by Caleb at Lexington, Ky., in 1961.

In the second heat, Speedy Scot defeated Floris and his 60-year-old driver, Harry Pownall, by three-fourths of a length in 1:58. In the third and decisive mile, the two colts again battled through the stretch. Speedy Scot finishing first by a length in 1:58 3-5.

It was the 47-year-old Ralph Baldwins first Hambletonian triumph in 13 attempts. And the combined winning time of the three heats of 5 minutes, 54 seconds was the fastest on record for a divided three-heat harness race, regardless of gain or age.

Speedy Scot, owned by Castleton Farm of Lexington, Ky., boosted his career record to 20 victories in 26 starts. With the $56,619 top prize, he swelled his earnings to $238,710.

Razor Blade Industry In Big Struggle

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Beatniks are out. But every shaving man is a target in the battle of the chins. All of the big U.S. razor blade makers are now in the stainless steel fracas started more than a year ago by a British invader.

The long lasting blade has been relatively scarce and regarded by some of its users as a status symbol.

The stainless steel blades and their older brothers made of carbon steel are now likely to be engaged in more of an economic battle. The struggle will be keenest between the competitive American makes. And the victory may go to performance, or to retail price, or to cost of production and distribution — or to the willingness of the American male to change his ways.

The giant provider of the older and familiar razor blade, the Gillette Company, with about 70 percent of the American market, says it will enter the stainless steel blade contest in New York and Philadelphia next week and across the nation by October. Merchandising the new multiple shave item since February are Shick (subsidiary of Eversharp) and American Razor (Division of Philip Morris).

Starting the whole thing on this side of the Atlantic was a British sword maker. Blades made by Wilkinson Sword Ltd., a hit in England, were first imported in March 1962 and sold by American outlets for its better known products, garden tools. Advertised by word of mouth, they caught on fast and were hard to find.

But American production methods may soon make them commonplace.

Performance ultimately will be judged by the American males, each one doubtless convinced that his own chin is a special and peculiar problem.

Price differentials, at least at the start of the contest, are these: Wilkinson's usually sell at five for 75 cents or 15 cents a blade. Shick's and American razor's Personna double-edged blades are regularly priced at five for 75 cents.

cents. Gillette says it will retail for 89 cents, making them the stainless steel blades at six cents a blade.

The older, carbon steel, double-edged blades range from 3.5 cents to 6.9 cents a blade.

Production costs are the secrets of the competing companies, but the stainless steel blades are many times the number of blades to make. The American firms also have been making stainless steel blades in the mills of their European subsidiaries. Their new or converted American plants are reported capable of turning out many times the number of blades that Wilkinson has been allotting to its American market.

Circus Show Whipped Up In 9 Weeks

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It was suddenly decided last February to make a television series to be called "The Greatest Show On Earth."

A bright young producer, Stanley Colbert, was called in, handed the title—and nine weeks to come up with the idea for a dramatic series plus a pilot show.

Colbert, 35, made his deadline, and "The Greatest Show On Earth" will have its ABC premiere on Sept. 17, a circus tale starring Jack Palance.

The producer explained that developing an hour dramatic show involves, largely, following a time honored recipe.

"First," he said, "you must have a man—a hero—who is in the center of things and to whom things happen. In our show, it almost had to be the owner of the circus. That's Palance."

Then, he continued, there must be a second character—"Ben Casey's Zorba or Dr. Kildare's Gillespie."

"In television mechanics, there must be a source of secondary pressures on the leading man," he continued. "First, you put the lead in conflict with the guest star. Then you heap on added pressure, as when Zorba says, 'Oh, Ben Casey, you can't walk in and play God.' And finally, you have another pressure added-like the girl who wants Casey to treat her like a woman, not a lab technician."

"All hour-long television shows—50 minutes, really—are based on this format," said Colbert, "except, of course, comedies. It takes just about that long to solve all the problems."

"Greatest Show On Earth," in this classic groove, has Palance playing the man who gets the pressures. His Zorba is Stuart Ervin, playing the circus composter. And, then, of course, there are the guest stars. Colbert believes, however, that he has a big extra going for him—the flavor, excitement and color of a circus background.

Network television had a frantically busy news day covering developments in two important stories Wednesday. The first—and the one best adapted to camera coverage—was the massive and impressive March on Washington. The other, handled by frequent news bulletins, kept an anxious public abreast of the railroad strike situation.

All three networks had problems turning the march itself, from the Washington Monument to the Lincoln Memorial, into a particularly lively news special early in the day.

The participants streamed past the numerous cameras, waving and smiling in great good humor. It was a moving and impressive sight, but largely self-explanatory. The reporters resorted to debating the size of the crowd and reading placards already visible on the home screens.

Veteran Officer Is Cleared Of Brutality Rap

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Lt. Robert Heinen, a veteran of 17 years on the Kansas City police force, was cleared by the police board Wednesday of a charge of brutality.

Heinen was accused of using his night stick on a person during a raid on Prospect Avenue several weeks ago. Police Chief C. M. Kelley told the board the charge had been investigated and he recommended that no action be taken. The board unanimously approved the recommendation.

Heinen heads the morals and gambling squad.

Kelley also recommended that no action be taken against Jerome Grantham, a patrolman accused of brutality. However, the board voted to hold a formal hearing in Grantham's case Sept. because it involves a racial dispute.

A human relations committee appointed by Gov. John M. Dalton will sit with the board in the future on matters involving racial disputes or police brutality.

Aussie Woman Stays Underground 90 Days

PERTH, Australia (AP)—Dorothy Williams emerged from Nigilgi Cave at Yallingup, 165 miles south of Perth, Wednesday after setting a world record of 90 days underground.

"I have proved that women can endure solitude as well as men," she said.

Miss Williams, 35, exceeded by three days the previous record, set in the same cave last May by Wymdham Rendell.

Sgt. Alvin York Returns to Home

PALL MALL, Tenn. (AP)—Sgt. Alvin York, 75, Medal of Honor winner in World War I, returned from a Nashville hospital to his mountain home near here Wednesday night.

"It's good to get this good old mountain air and mountain water," he said.

Doctors said York would be "just as well at home."

Bedridden for nine years and near death several times in the past year, York was admitted to the hospital the last time on July 2 for treatment of bedsores and later suffered a urinary tract infection.

Quick Meal Hints Move To Spotlight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's supermarkets are cooperating to help take the labor out of meal-fixing this Labor Day weekend.

Hamburger and ground beef are widely featured for quick meals. Hams, picnics and Boston butts are easily prepared pork items. Chicken fryers are another entry in the simple meal derby.

Sandwich items include canned tuna and peanut butter. Eggs, especially small ones, are economically priced for egg-salad this weekend.

Those desiring a season-end cookout will find an ample supply of rib steaks and spareribs at meat counters.

Small turkeys and quartered turkeys are other economical dishes that lend themselves to oven or grill preparation.

Vegetable selections continue broad, though some items are diminishing as the summer peak wanes. Best buys nationally include green beans, cabbage, tipped carrots, celery, bell peppers, tomatoes, cucumbers, potatoes, onions and lettuce.

Regional vegetable features include eggplant in the Northeast, blackeye peas and squash in the Southwest and artichokes and broccoli on the West Coast.

Among fruits, watermelon and cantaloupe are still the best buys. Other attractions include nectarines, peaches and plums, with some areas getting a good supply of apples. Grapefruit is attractively priced in the West.

Grape bargains will become increasingly attractive in price in coming weeks as a bumper crop comes to market.

Tips on Making Jelly, Jam, Conserves, Preserves and Marmalades at Home

Jelly, jam, conserve, marmalade, preserves — any of these fruit products can add zest to meals. Most of them also provide a good way to use fruit not at its best for canning or freezing—the largest or smallest fruits and berries and those that are imperfect or are irregularly shaped.

Basically these products are much alike; all of them are fruit preserved by means of sugar, and usually all are jellied to some extent. Their individual characteristics depend on the kind of fruit used and the way it is prepared, the proportions of different ingredients in the mixture, and the method of cooking.

Jelly is made from fruit juice; the product is clear, and firm enough to hold its shape when turned out of the container. Jam, made from crushed or ground fruit, tends to hold its shape but generally is less firm than jelly. Conserves are jams made from a mixture of fruits, usually including citrus fruit; often raisins and nuts are added. Marmalade is a tender jelly with pieces of fruit distributed evenly throughout; a marmalade commonly contains citrus fruit. Preserves are whole fruits or large pieces of fruit in a thick syrup, often slightly jellied.

Not all fruits have the properties needed for making satisfactory jellied products, but with the commercial pectins now on the market, the homemaker need not depend on the jelling quality of the fruit for successful results.

Four Essential Ingredients

Proper amounts of fruit, pectin, acid, and sugar are needed to make a jellied fruit product.

FRUIT gives each product its characteristic flavor and furnishes at least part of the pectin and acid required for successful gels. It also provides mineral salts, which add to the flavor.

Flavorful varieties of fruits are best for jellied products because the fruit flavor is diluted by the large proportion of sugar necessary for proper consistency and good keeping quality.

Increase of 750 Predicted at MU

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — The University of Missouri begins its 125th academic year Sept. 8 with an anticipated enrollment of 14,750—750 more students than it had a year ago.

PECTIN — Some kinds of fruit have enough natural pectin to make high-quality products. Others require added pectin, particularly when they are used for making jellies, which should be firm enough to hold their shape. All fruits have less pectin when they are fully ripe than when they are under-ripe.

Commercial fruit pectins, which are made from apples or citrus fruits, are on the market in two forms — liquid and powdered. Either form is satisfactory when used in a recipe developed especially for that form.

These pectins may be used with any fruit. Many homemakers prefer the added-pectin method for making jellied fruit products because fruit that is all fully ripe can be used, cooking time is shorter and is standardized so that there is no question as to when the product is done, and the yield from a given amount of fruit is greater.

Beet and cane sugar can be used with equal success. Although they come from different sources they have the same composition. Corn syrup or honey can replace part of the sugar.

After-Ironing Tips

Place a large tray near the board to hold small items after ironing. Then carry these to drawers and shelves on one trip.

ACID is needed for flavor and for gel formation. The acid content varies in different fruits and is higher in under-ripe than in fully ripe fruits.

With fruits that are low in acid, lemon juice or citric acid is commonly added in making jellied products. Also, commercial fruit pectins contain some acid.

Lemon juice may be included to supply additional acid when necessary. If you want to use citric acid instead, use  $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon of crystalline citric acid for each tablespoon of lemon juice called for.

SUGAR helps in gel formation, serves as a preserving agent and contributes to the flavor of the jellied product. It also has a firming effect on fruit, a property that is useful in the making of preserves.

Crucial Days In Indonesia Seen Ahead

By TONY ESCODA

JAKARTA (AP) — Indonesia is entering what could be the most crucial period of its development since it declared its independence 18 years ago.

Competent observers say the time probably has never been more ripe for an all-out effort by Indonesian leaders to pull this Southeast Asian country up by its bootstraps — with some foreign help.

This thinking is based on:

1. The return of stability and security to the regions of the country which had been plagued by military rebellions since 1957, and years before by Moslem terrorists.

2. The end of the West Irian (New Guinea) crisis and its heavy drain on the nation's resources.

3. A clearing up of the political situation — near chaos six or seven years ago — with President Sukarno and his "guided democracy" regime still firmly in the saddle.

The Communist party, whose claimed membership of 2½ million makes it the biggest outside the Iron Curtain, poses a potential threat. But Sukarno keeps it at arm's length. An effective balance is provided by the 400,000-man armed forces under non-Communist leadership.

The biggest problem now facing this country of 3,000 islands — with oil, rubber and other natural sources of wealth — is economic. Economists put the blame largely on the government's past pre-occupation with politics at home and abroad.

A tentative step has been taken with the launching of an economic stabilization campaign. Most of it still is on paper, and it is possible the West Irian crisis might still be replaced by a similar militant and costly confrontation with Malaya over the Malaysia issue.

As in the case of West Irian, the United Nations has taken a hand in trying to bring about a peaceful Malaysia settlement.

The United Nations is to run a survey on Sarawak and North Borneo, the two British-ruled territories tabbed as partners of Malaya and Singapore in the new federation. Sukarno has pegged his acceptance of Malaysia on U.N.-determined popular support for it in the territories, which border on this country.

Sukarno has embraced the concept of a loose confederation of Malay states. This would include Malaya and the Philippines, but with Indonesia as the biggest partner with the biggest voice.

Western diplomats welcome the attitude Indonesia is displaying toward the stanchly pro-American Philippines, as well as other neighbors such as Thailand and Pakistan.

Those three belong to SEATO, the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization which always has been a dirty word in Sukarno's non-aligned dictionary.

One educated guess is that at least part of Indonesia's goodwill

Economic experts note that Soviet-bloc credits — used chiefly for military equipment and nonproductive prestige projects such as Jakarta's huge sports complex — are not the kind needed to help shore up this country's shaky economy.

Runaway prices and spiraling inflation have made life grim for the average Indonesian, particularly on crowded Java island, which holds 60 per cent of the country's 100 million population.

Despite recent indirect devaluation of the rupiah to the rate of 315-$1, Jakarta's residents insist the black market rate of about 900-$1 is more realistic. Only a few months ago it hit 1,250 to $1.

The government last May issued a set of sweeping regulations designed to increase production and exports, curb price rises and stem inflation.

Stabilization moves have led to a loan from the International Monetary Fund, which is making $50 million available over a one-year period. At least six times that amount in foreign aid is hoped for, mostly from the United States.

EDITORIALS*The Flag on Labor Day

Are Americans developing a tendency to be timid or even apologetic about displaying the United States Flag?

This question is being asked more often lately because the flag isn't seen as much as it should be on holidays in Sedalia. This reflects, too, an attitude of indifference which should be recognized as a most dangerous development especially among young people. If they grow up not understanding or unappreciative of those things in our democracy for which the flag is symbolic then dark days lie ahead for our country.

Youngsters should be taught that the flag is a symbol of national unity, standing for the best that is in us, for loyalty, character and faith in democracy. Adults can strengthen the oral lesson by a visual display of the flag on proper occasions when it is most impressive as a symbol.

One of these occasions is coming soon — Labor Day. This national holiday deserves better recognition than it has been getting in recent years.

What has happened to the parades, the waving Stars and Stripes, the community picnics of yesteryear?

Sure, times have changed — lakes and resorts a long way off beckon motorists and their families.

The flag in the drawer back home is forgotten.

Someone has asked, isn't it possible to wave the flag too much?

Is it too much to wave the flag on the little over a dozen chief or legal holidays each year? Certainly not, if you want to restrict it to those days. But even these are neglected.

Labor Day this year offers a new starting time for citizens to revive enthusiasm for a chore which really is a duty — to display the flag whether it is the new 50-star one or an older one.

China As World Power

United Nations' Secretary General U. Thant prophesied that by 1970 China would join the rank of World Powers, providing there will be any 1970.

His gloomy outlook was expressed at a news conference where he said China would be added as a world power within the United Nations, with the United States, the Soviet Union and Europe. He also said that China would soon explode nuclear weapons.

U. Thant's gloom probably stems from the fact that the Soviet Union, France and other powers fail to pay their assessed shares of peace keeping costs which have created a 10,000,000 dollar shortage in the U.N. organization.

With China's rise to power, membership in the U.N. will become a necessity. Then the question will be whether the Soviets will continue their veto or will they cast their votes with the West?

The future is unpredictable but all nations should heed Thant's prophecy in planning their foreign policies.

(Editor's Note — Continuing his survey of the cold war and its thaw, Drew Pearson today interviews the Prime Minister of Bulgaria.)

By DREW PEARSON

VARNA, Bulgaria — Communist leaders do not object to living in capitalistic surroundings, and Todor Zhivkov, Secretary of the Communist party of Bulgaria and Premier of that country, has a summer place on the Black Sea which compares with Tito's private island in the Adriatic and Khrushchev's summer resting spot on the Black Sea.

All three, however, share these private estates with other Communist leaders. Anyone high up in the party is welcome.

Tito's island is the resort of over a hundred wives, children, and top echelon of Yugoslavia, has an attractive swimming beach wired for sharks, and a series of beautiful macadam roads winding through lanes of olive trees and fields full of deer and peacocks.

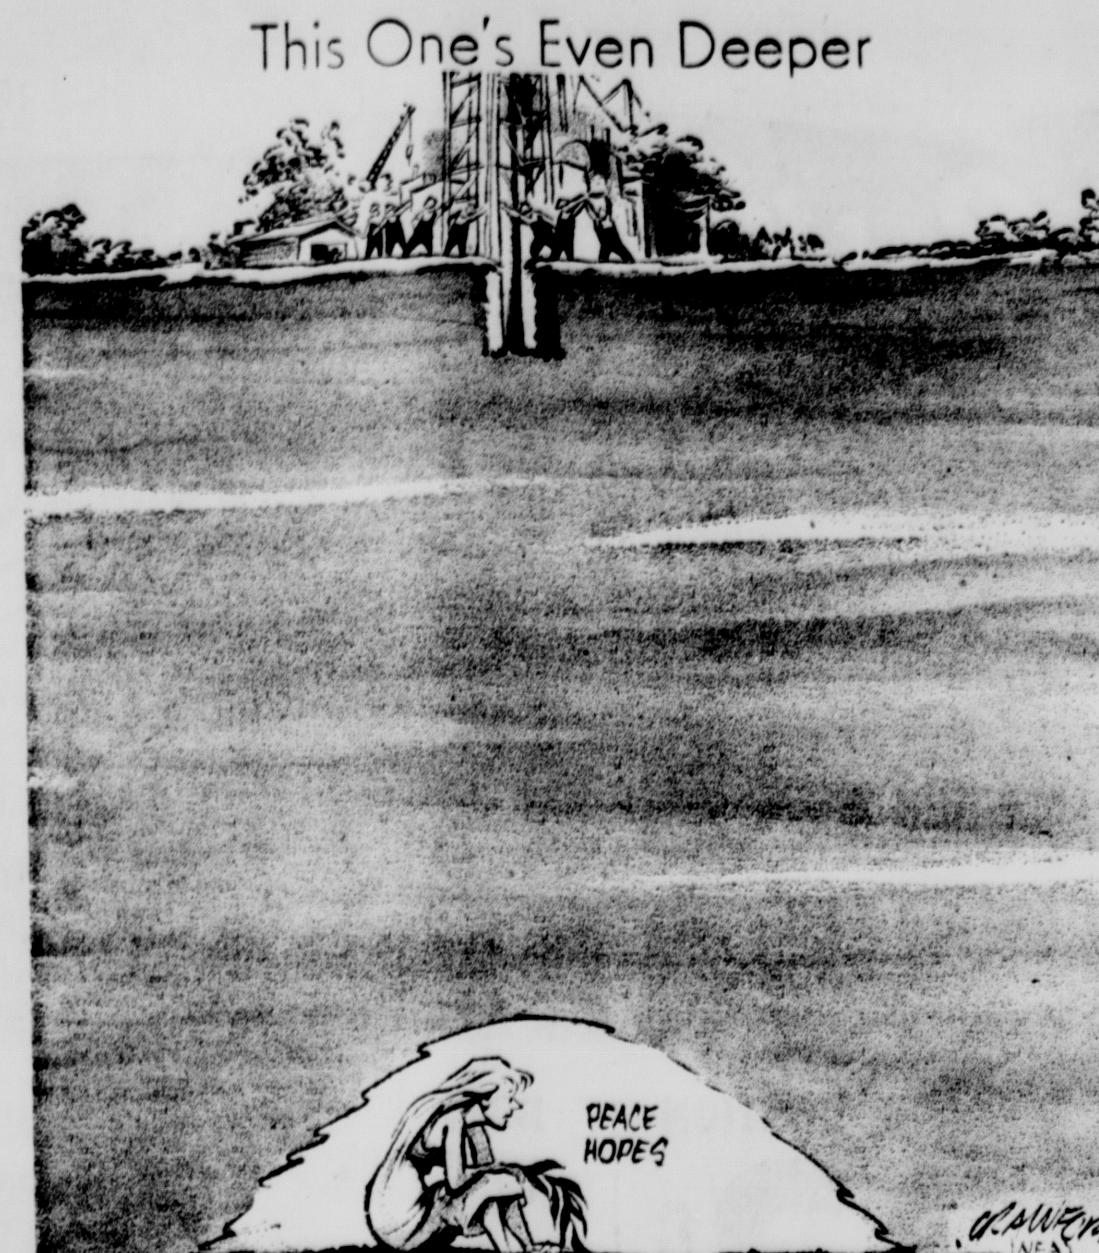

Khrushchev's Black Sea resort has two guest houses for friends and is surrounded by pine trees. If anything, it is more rugged than Tito's island. Zhivkov of Bulgaria has taken over a palace, once occupied by the Kings of Bulgaria which stretches in beautiful lawns and well-kept terraces down to the Black Sea. Its sweep to the sea is reminiscent of the home with gold bathroom fixtures once occupied by Joseph P. Kennedy, father of the President, which swept down to the Potomac just outside Washington.

At the bottom of the rolling lawn are two bathing beaches, used by both the servants and party leaders who vacation at the one-time Royal Palace.

Zhivkov does not live in the palace himself, but in an apartment house to one side, apparently the one-time servants quarters for the Bulgarian Royal Family. Other vacationing officials live there too.

The World Today*Placid Performance One Day Only

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The discipline and tranquility of Wednesday's civil rights demonstration will not be the permanent condition of the American Negro if he continues to be frustrated.

As they marched and stood in the sun for hours the massive quietude of perhaps 180,000 Negroes was amazing, when it is remembered how much in American life has been denied them.

But this performance was for one day only.

The warning of brief quietude, if white Americans continue to deprive Negroes of equal treatment, came from the one Negro who above all has preached non-violent resistance, Rev. Martin Luther King Jr.

He said:

"It would be fatal for the nation to overlook the urgency of the moment and to underestimate the determination of the Negro."

All but one of the speakers in this gigantic petition for "redress of grievances" talked with restraint about the desire for equal justice and the Negroes' hope that Congress will help them get it.

The exception was John Lewis, the militant head of the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee.

He revealed the bitter impatience just below the surface in himself and others with these words:

"This nation is still a place of cheap political leaders who build their careers on immoral compromise and ally themselves with open forms of political, economic and social exploitation."

"What political leader can stand up and say 'my party is the party of principle'? The party of Kennedy is also the party of Eastland. The party of Javits is also the party of Goldwater. Where is our party?"

It is now 35 years and one month since adoption of the 14th Amendment made the Negroes citizens beyond question and guaranteed them protection from any violation of their rights as citizens.

Their rights have been violated ever since.

King, lest white people assume that because the Negro has endured this until now he is a permanent patsy and Wednesday's peaceful demonstration proved it, told both the crowd and the nation:

"Those who hope the Negro needed to blow off steam and will now be content will have a rude awakening if the nation returns to business as usual."

"There will be neither rest nor tranquility in America until the Negro is granted his citizenship rights. The whirlwinds of revolt will continue to shake the foundations of our nation until the bright day of justice emerges."

But this performance was for one day only.

The warning of brief quietude, if white Americans continue to deprive Negroes of equal treatment, came from the one Negro who above all has preached non-violent resistance, Rev. Martin Luther King Jr.

He said:

"It would be fatal for the nation to overlook the urgency of the moment and to underestimate the determination of the Negro."

All but one of the speakers in this gigantic petition for "redress of grievances" talked with restraint about the desire for equal justice and the Negroes' hope that Congress will help them get it.

They have shown they don't by some of their violent outbursts since he first began to use non-violent resistance, and successfully, with his peaceful boycott of the Montgomery, Ala., buses in 1955-56.

Only a comparative few at any time have accepted this philosophy from a leader. To believe it an increasing scale.

requires complete conviction it is the only right means to seek justice.

Millions of Indians practiced nonviolent resistance under the guidance of Mohandas Gandhi without believing it, as their later violence showed. But even Gandhi himself hadn't always practiced it.

In India in his time it just happened to be a necessary technique of resistance to the British when the British had superior power. When the Indians got their independence thousands of Hindus and Moslems slaughtered one another.

In this country racial violence was increasing until the time for Wednesday's civil rights march drew near. Then the violence disappeared as if to let the march dominate the scene. It's over now.

But the discriminations against Negroes are not over. Their determination to batter down the discriminations, as King pointed out, are not over. Therefore more violence can be expected, perhaps on an increasing scale.

It is the wish of Jeweler Harry Winston who gave the Hope Diamond to have a national jewel collection comparable to the crown jewels of England and Denmark. He would like America's First Lady to dip into this collection whenever she chooses to adorn herself with some special jewel.

It is the wish of Jacqueline Kennedy or any succeeding First Lady to have a necklace to wear the Hope Diamond, the Napoleon necklace and other precious jewels now displayed at the Smithsonian Institute.
